

REM OCC Separator

From Recycling Equipment Manufacturing, Inc.

The REM® OCC Disc Separator will reduce labor and overall operational costs while increasing throughput and production efficiency. The OCC Separator increases function, serviceability. Material flow and safety. Engineered and built for high production and dependable service, the REM® OCC Separator is designed to sort OCC from institutional / commercial office waste.

PROVEN DESIGN

Engineered and built for high production and dependable service, the REM OCC Separator is designed to sort OCC from institutional / commercial office waste. By in feeding waste into the REM® OCC separator, it allows office paper and other small miscellaneous contaminants to negatively separate from the larger, more rigid pieces of OCC by falling through the opening between the discs and allowing the OCC to be carried over the top to the discharge of the system.

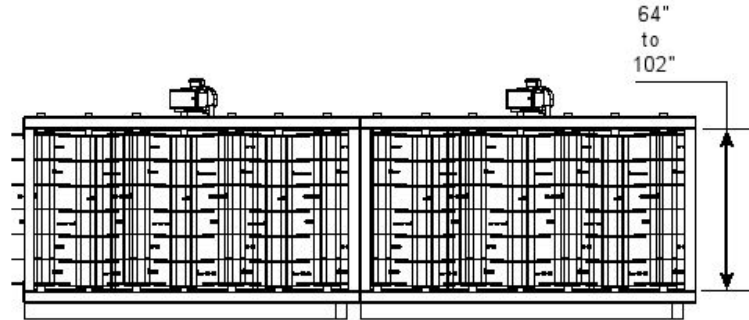

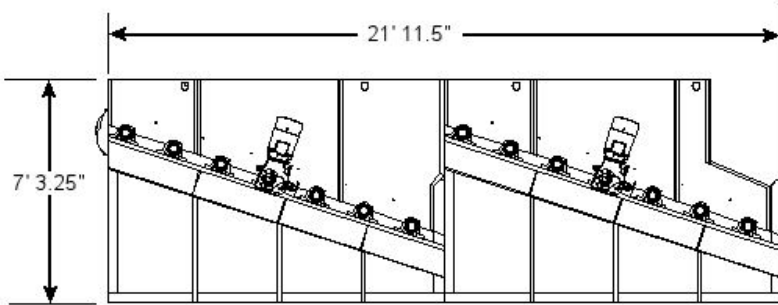

REM ® has been in the manufacturing of material recovery equipment for over 31 years. We are confident that our knowledge and experience will result in the ability to provide you with a system to fit your needs.
